By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The world's first woman cosmonaut and a male Soviet space comrade whirled around the globe in separate spaceships today. It seemed doubtful that they would link up in orbit.

Valentina Tereshkova, 26, an attractive blonde, woke up feeling fine this morning after her first night in orbit, Tass news agency said.

Her space partner, Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, 28, also awoke refreshed from his third night of globe-girdling.

"Both cosmonauts began their working day with physical exercises," said Tass.

Tass said all systems on the two spaceships—Vostok 5 and Vostok 6—were working normally.

Soviet officials remained silent on whether Bykovsky and Miss Tereshkova would attempt a rendezvous in space.

Observers noted, however, that Miss Tereshkova is not a trained pilot and might not be able to carry out her role in a complicated link-up maneuver.

Tass said the purpose of sending a man and woman into space was to compare the effects of space flight on the two sexes.

The Soviet Union rocketed Miss Tereshkova, a former factory worker, aloft Sunday, two days after Bykovsky blasted into space.

There was no official indication exactly how close their ships were or whether the two cosmonauts could see each other. In a joint message to Premier Khrushchev Sunday they said: "Our ships are at a close distance from each other."

Soviet communiques said both space ships had lost a little altitude.

There was no official word how long Miss Tereshkova and Bykovsky will remain aloft. Unofficial reports said they will land at short intervals within a day or so.

Mrs. Tarter, 85, Resident of Patmos, Dies

Mrs. Rebecca Tarter, aged 85, a resident of Patmos, died Friday at Patmos after a lengthy illness. She is survived by a son, Reed Tarter of Patmos, two daughters, Mrs. Donnie Norvell of Patmos and Mrs. A. D. Thompson of Liberty, Kentucky.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Patmos Church of Christ by Smith Service of Stamps. Burial was in Patmos Cemetery.

Escaped Trustee Is Recaptured

GRADY, Ark. (AP) — A trusty who escaped Saturday night from Cummins Prison Farm near Grady was discovered Sunday afternoon hiding under a haystack on a farm near Tarry, 20 miles from the prison.

Dan Stephens, assistant supervisor at the prison farm, said the trusty, Marcellis Ellis, about 28, a Negro of Benton, offered no resistance to a search party composed of prison farm officers and trustees and Lincoln and Jefferson County authorities.

Stephens said Ellis escaped from an unlocked trusty barracks between guard checks at 11:15 and 12:15.

Ellis, who is serving a seven-year sentence on a second degree murder conviction in Saline County, had been at the prison farm 18 months. He had been a trusty since May 24.

Miss Arkansas Hurt in Wreck

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Miss Arkansas, Edye Addington of Texarkana, was reported in good condition today at a Texarkana hospital where she was taken after an automobile accident Sunday.

Hospital attendants said Miss Addington was suffering from a possible hip injury and from cuts and bruises on her arms and legs.

State Trooper Wylie Parham said Miss Addington was injured when the car she was driving struck the rear of another automobile during a rainstorm eight miles north of Texarkana on U.S. Highway 67.

Parham said the driver of the other car, Jack Peterson of Kilgore, Tex., was not injured.

Parham said Miss Addington, who was returning from the Arkansas Poultry Festival at Little Rock, was thrown from her car which left the highway and struck a telephone pole.

Nine Stations Seek Channels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has been asked by the Arkansas Educational Television Commission to reserve nine ultra-high frequency (UHF) television channels for non-commercial educational purposes in Arkansas.

The commission requested channels 17 and 23 for Little Rock; 34 for Arkadelphia; 30 for Batesville; 26 for El Dorado; 39 for Jonesboro; 24 for Harrison; 52 for Hot Springs and 19 for Russellville. Channels 2 in Little Rock, 13 at Fayetteville and 16 at Fort Smith already have been reserved for educational television by the FCC.

Nationalists Issue New Postal Stamp

The photographs were taken by P. C. Lee of Hong Kong's Tiger Standard and distributed by radio-photo to newspapers around the world by The Associated Press.

Refugees poured into Hong Kong in May 1962, the height of a mass exodus from the Communist mainland regime. Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government will issue the stamps June 27 to commemorate the arrival of the first groups of escapees here.

The first of two sets to be made available will depict Lee Ying, a Chinese refugee girl, bursting into tears after being told she must return to China. Two million of these, carrying an 80-cent denomination—2 cents U.S.—are to be published.

The second, of which 600,000 are to be printed, shows a refugee carrying his young son and dragging his tearful wife back to the border. It will carry a $3.20 denomination—8 cents.

R. F. Caldwell, 82, Columbus, Buried Monday

Dr. R. F. Caldwell, aged 82, a long time resident of Columbus, died Friday in a local hospital. He was a retired stockman and veterinarian.

Survivors include his wife and five sons, Joe of Dallas, Delbert of Idaho, Marcus of Kansas City, Dale of Crossett and Andy Caldwell of Hope; two daughters, Mrs. Virgie Tubbs of Dallas and Miss Estelle Caldwell of Hope.

Services were held at 10:30 a. m. Monday at Columbus Baptist Church. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius Funeral service was in Columbus Cemetery.

Home Explosion Injures Couple

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stracener were injured today when an explosion demolished their frame home at Benton.

Benton Police Chief James Steed said an accumulation of natural gas beneath the house apparently caused the explosion, but there was no indication of what touched off the gas.

Steed said the explosion lifted the house off its foundation and blew a hole in the floor. He said Straceners were standing in the yard near the foundation and explosion. The Straceners had moved into the house earlier in the day.

Negro High School

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Bids are to be opened July 2 on a proposed new building for the Langston (Negro) High School at Hot Springs. The project is to be financed through a $600,000 bond issue approved in last December's school election.

Leaders Meet With Kennedy on Race Issue

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said after a White House conference Democratic and Republican congressional leaders today that he believes there is an "area of agreement" among them on civil rights legislation.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters he thinks he and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana can agree on a package program to be introduced after President Kennedy sends a message to Congress on Wednesday.

This was the second two-party session with Kennedy on the subject in only five days.

Later today the chief executive meets with some 200 leaders of various religious faiths to urge that they exert moral leadership for settlement of the issue.

Disclosing that he had studied a preliminary draft of the administration's proposals during the weekend, Dirksen said he had suggested some "modifications" at the earlier White House session of leaders from the Capitol.

"I think there is an area of agreement on a number of items," he said. "I believe Sen. Mansfield and I will be able to join in sponsoring a program."

Mansfield said only that no final decisions had been reached on the form of the legislation to be recommended to Congress. He said it is the understanding, however, that a presidential message will be forthcoming Wednesday.

Dirksen said the package proposal will cover everything. He said this will include provision for desegregation of public places and private businesses, aid for school integration and the abolition of state literacy tests on voting.

The separate sessions are part of Kennedy's two-pronged attack on inequality. Using persuasion of private citizens to try to speed desegregation, sounding out key members of Congress prior to dispatch of his civil rights legislative

Somebody Did Turn on the Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Somebody — Mother Nature or Homer Berry—turned on the rain in drought-stricken Arkansas Sunday.

New customers came clamoring for the services of Berry, a self-styled rainmaker, while some of those who had contracted for rain had some second thoughts about whether he should be paid.

"You just can't please some people," Berry said. "I pulled a stationary front all the way down to the Louisiana border to produce that rain."

The rain fell in drizzles and torrents, ranging from less than half an inch to more than three inches. A group of farmers in the Augusta area said they wanted to thank Berry for trying to help them, but they didn't think he was responsible for the 1 1/2 inch of rain that fell there Sunday morning.

The group had put up $500 as a down payment and had promised Berry another $500 if he produced rain by midnight Saturday. Whether Berry will get his extra $500 has not been decided.

A Jefferson County group gave Berry $1,000 down and had another $1,000 waiting for him, but there, too, the situation remained unsettled.

Most of the Nashville group was ready to credit Berry with the rain that fell there, but they said it was too little and too late. Berry had contracted to produce two inches of rain by midnight Saturday for a $1,500 fee.

At Portland, in Ashley County the farmers were ready to chip in $50 apiece in addition to the $1,000 they already had raised. They said they got from one to three inches of rain and were more than satisfied.

Twenty farmers at Dermott paid Berry $750 and promised him an equal amount if he brought rain within five days. Some 60 farmers, lawyers and bankers at McGeehe put up $2,000 for showers in an area 20 miles square within 48 hours.

Meanwhile, a Denver Co. rain-making company took credit for the rain that fell in and around Monroe, La. The company is operating in 13 Louisiana parishes and in Union and Ashley counties in Arkansas. It has a six-month contract for $39,000. The rain at Monroe totaled 1.04 inches, the largest amount received in the area in the past two months.

Negro Lying in Road Killed by a Truck

Floyd Walker, aged 48, a Negro resident of Washington, was fatally injured about 3 a. m. Saturday when he was run over by a truck driven by Galen May of Hope. He died in a local hospital at 4:10 a. m.

Hempstead Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said that Walker was lying on the Highway and that Mr. May was too close to stop when he saw him.

The accident occurred about six miles north of Hope on Highway 4. There was no explanation as to why Walker was lying on the road. Sheriff Griffin said, following an investigation, that no charges were filed and that his investigation is closed. There was evidence, the Sheriff said, that Walker had been drinking heavily

Six Killed in Arkansas Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Six persons were killed in Arkansas over the weekend, bringing the week's violent death total in the state to 17.

Jesse McGough, 21, of Crossett, drowned Sunday while swimming in a small lake in southwest Crossett. McGough's brother-in-law and another companion, who were watching from the bank, said McGough was diving with goggles, fins and a snorkel about 100 feet from shore when he began yelling and went under.

Three persons were killed Saturday when the car in which they were riding struck a railing of the Boett River Bridge on state Highway 44, northwest of Lake Village. They were identified as John D. Noblett, 21; Calvin Davidson, 18, and Harold Payne, 18, all of Lake Village.

Two other persons, both Negroes, were struck by automobiles while walking along highways Saturday.

Newton Wood, 45, of Carthage in Dallas County, was hit and killed on Highway 9, one-half mile north of Princeton. Floyd Waller, 48, of Washington, was killed while walking along Highway 4, one mile north of Washington, six miles north of Hope.

Earlier in the week, six persons died in traffic accidents, three drowned, one strangled and one was killed in a fight.

Youth Escapes Texarkana Jail

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Miller County authorities were searching today for a 19-year-old prisoner who pulled a daring escape late Saturday by sliding down a garden hose from the third floor of the county jail.

Sheriff Richard Birtcher said the escape of Timmy Earl Pillgreen of Texarkana was not discovered until 6 a. m. Sunday. He said Pillgreen was sentenced Thursday to three years in prison for burglary and grand larceny.

Birtcher said Pillgreen was aided in his escape by Donald Calhoun, about 19, another inmate. He said Calhoun told him he didn't go with Pillgreen because he had only 45 days left to serve on a sentence for parole violation.

ALC to Take Up State Police Audit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Results of an audit of State Police finances are to be revealed Thursday in Little Rock at a meeting of the Legislative Joint Audit Committee.

Craighead County Rep. Norman Wimpy requested the audit after Gov. Orval E. Faubus called for a drastic cutback in State Police expenditures to get the department within its budget.

The agency later was restored to normal operations after it was discovered that the budget would be exceeded even with the curtailment. Faubus said then the department would operate with its own money until funds were exhausted, after which the administrative branch of the state government would provide funds to carry it through until January, when driver's license revenues come in.

Funds are expected to run out in October or November and Faubus has indicated that he will call a special session of the state legislature to deal with the problem of financing.

During the past five years, the State Police Department has had to borrow as much as $400,000 in the fall to meet expenditures until January.

New Dormitory

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The newest and largest dormitory at the University of Arkansas will be named in honor of Judge Henry S. Yocum of El Dorado. Yocum, who retired in 1959, was on the university Board of Trustees for 20 years. The new dormitory will house 539 students and is scheduled to be completed this fall.

Only a Single Member of Court Dissents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 8-1 today it is unconstitutional for a state to require Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools.

Holding that requirement of such practices—common in a preponderant majority of the state—violates the "establishment of religion" clause of the Constitution, the majority rejected an argument that the exercises are essentially moral teachings and not religious practices.

Justice Clark, who wrote the court's main opinion on two cases coming from Maryland and Pennsylvania, declared:

"Nor are these required exercises mitigated by the fact that individual students may absent themselves upon parental request, for that fact furnishes no defense to a claim of unconstitutionality under the establishment clause."

"Further," Clark said, "it is no defense to urge that the religious practices here may be relatively minor encroachments on the First Amendment."

"The breach of neutrality that is today a trickling stream may all too soon become a raging torrent, and in the words of Madison, 'It is proper to take alarm at the first experiment on our liberties.'"

He had declared that the First Amendment requires that the government be completely neutral where religion is concerned.

Clark said that nothing the court said today would bar study of the Bible or of religion "when presented objectively as part of a secular program of education."

But he reiterated that the school exercises in the Maryland and Pennsylvania cases did not fall into those educational categories. Rather, he asserted, "they are religious exercises required by the states in violation of the command of the First Amendment that the government maintain strict neutrality, neither aiding nor opposing religion."

Justice Goldberg wrote a separate opinion concurring with the majority. Justice Harlan joined in Goldberg's separate opinion.

Shorter separate opinions concurring with the majority were written by Justices Brennan and Douglas.

Justice Stewart wrote a dissenting opinion.

The legal question in both Maryland and Pennsylvania cases was whether such school practices violate the Constitution's First Amendment. The amendment prohibits government aid in establishment of religion and bars any interference with free exercise of religion.

The decision was 8-1. Intense national interest had developed in the Maryland and Pennsylvania appeals particularly since the Supreme Court's decision on June 25, 1962 in a New York State case. The court then ruled unconstitutional the use of a nondenominational prayer composed by state school officials.

Travelers Split With Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Arkansas Travelers dropped a 5-4 decision to Richmond Sunday, then bounced back for a 3-2 victory in the second game of an International League baseball doubleheader.

The split ended a four-game series in which each team won two games.

Horace Clarke singled in the 11th inning of the first game to give the Virginians the nod, and John Herrstein blasted a three-run homer to give the Travelers the winning margin in the second game.

Herrstein's homer in the fourth inning was Arkansas' only damaging blow off Richmond loser Tex Clevenger in the nightcap, but served to back up a fine relief job by right-hander Harry Oliver, who allowed Richmond only one hit in the last 4 2-3 innings after taking over in the third from John Kerrigan.

Singles by John Upham and Norm Gigon preceded Herrstein's homer.

Four home runs were hit in the extra-inning opener, a solo blow by John Lipski tying the score at 4-4 for Arkansas in the top of the ninth.

In Richmond's half of the 11th, Tom Umphlett led off with a single. Walks to Joe Durham and Bob Schmidt loaded the bases. Mike Mathiesen fanned, but Clarke singled to produce the tie-breaking run.

Earlier, Cal Emery had hit a two-run homer for Arkansas and Don Budlin got a bases-empty homer for Richmond.

The Northern Division of the league had the look of a traffic jam in a telephone booth today with only one half game separating first-place Syracuse and the third-place Rochester Red Wings.

Buffalo climbed into a virtual deadlock with Syracuse Sunday by sweeping the Chiefs 5-1 and 8-2 while sizzling Rochester was winning its eighth straight, 5-4 from Indianapolis.

Columbus whipped Toronto 7-2, and Atlanta padded its Southern Division lead to eight games by sweeping Jacksonville 5-3 and 4-2.

Boat Forms to Be Ready Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gus Albright, news editor for the state Game and Fish Commission, said today that motorboat registration forms should be available June 24 at county clerk offices around the state.

The deadline for renewing registrations is June 30. Cost of renewal is $1.

Aubrey Fowler, chief of enforcement for the commission, said some motorboat owners apparently are confused about a section of the law which requires a renewal by July 15 to prevent the possible termination of a particular number.

If a boat has never been registered previously, the registration cost is $2. Boats with less than 10 horsepower propulsion systems need not be registered.

Oyster and one by Bill Roman accounted for all of Syracuse's runs. Oyster hit one in each game. Joe Hicks homered for Buffalo in the nightcap with the bases loaded.

A four-run rally in the eighth inning, capped by Ken Hamlin's fourth consecutive hit, enabled Rochester to keep its victory string intact. Frank Bertina, who pitched the seventh inning, got the victory. Indianapolis reliever Ed Nottle drew the loss.

Columbus rapped four consecutive hits with two out in the fifth to beat Toronto. Jim McKnight, who joined Toronto over the weekend, drove in both runs for the Leafs.

Atlanta scored five runs in the seventh for a comeback victory over Jacksonville in the first game. The Crackers broke a three-game victory drought in the sweep.

Leaders Meet

package to Capitol Hill later this week.

On the voluntary front, Kennedy already has met with business and labor groups, with several governors and a week ago in Hawaii with the nation's mayors. Another session with governors is planned for Tuesday, and there have been reports he will meet with educational leaders last week.

The President called in congressional leaders last week. This morning's repeat session comes amid signs that civil rights supporters still lack the votes to kill the filibuster. Southern senators are almost certain to mount in opposition to Kennedy's legislation.

House passage of some form of civil rights legislation is regarded as likely. The story is apt to be different in the Senate, for an Associated Press canvass indicates leaders cannot count on marshaling the two-thirds of those voting to shut off debate.

The Dixie senators' key target probably will be an expected administration proposal calling for legal steps to prevent discrimination in public places and private businesses. The Kennedy program probably will include, too, proposals to strengthen voting rights, authorize the attorney general to act legally to speed school integration and to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission.

The canvass shows that since May 9, 1962, when an effort to cut off talk on a bill to abolish state literacy tests in voting was defeated 53 to 43, there has been a shift of 10 votes to the support of cloture. Senators absent for the 1962 test are expected to swell the total by three.

In a check of senators outside the South, an additional eight members representing votes cast against cloture on the literacy measure—expected to be part of the administration's new package—indicated they might be persuaded under certain circumstances to vote to cut off talk.

Five senators stood firm on their determination to vote again against cloture. Ten others represented in the anti-cloture group in 1962 declined to commit themselves on the issue.

Thus if those seeking to kill a filibuster got the support of all those who have changed their minds, those who were absent a year ago and those who remain doubtful, they could add up 64 votes. This would be three short of the 67 needed to curb debate if all 100 senators voted.

Anti-Castro Men Snatch Small Band

MARATHON, Fla. (AP)—For the second time, a nameless little band of anti-Castro raiders has returned with captives snatched in a foray off Cuba's coast. And it promises more such exploits.

Manuel Quiza, 31, of Miami and his nine comrades said they killed two Castro militiamen in a battle with a Castro gunboat Tuesday. Both their light craft were riddled in the engagement, and they made Marathon in the Florida Keys aboard a commandeered fishing boat with its skipper and two militiamen they captured.

Today, Quiza and his men were in detention—by U.S. authorities who sought to determine whether they violated federal laws. One of the group, Evangelio Ruffin Calero, 36, is hospitalized with a bullet in his back.

The State Department said Cuba can have the fishing boat, its skipper and the two servicemen upon request.

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus will speak Wednesday at the annual State Conference of Cooperatives at Malvern. The conference, which runs today through Friday, is expected to attract some 200 Arkansas Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club members.

Appeals to Nation to Cooperate

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, faced with a racial crisis that threatens violence and lives, finally appeared in a nationwide broadcast for an end to discrimination against Negroes.

He did five things in his talk Tuesday night:

1. He blamed all 50 states, not just the South where racial prejudice is most intense, for discrimination.
2. He made equal treatment for Negroes an urgent necessity by noting that violence and lives are threatened.
3. He asked all white Americans to examine their conscience and cooperate in ending discrimination.
4. By the broadcast he put the full weight of his office behind his plea to give Negroes the constitutional rights denied them.
5. He outlined steps he wants Congress to take in this direction by passing laws to overcome segregation.

That he make such a talk had been urged on Kennedy from various quarters for weeks as racial tensions increased and, in some places, burst into riots.

The indications were that he wouldn't.

He finally did it a few hours after compelling the admittance of two Negroes to the University of Alabama over the completely empty resistance of Gov. George C. Wallace.

If Kennedy had made the same kind of talk earlier in his administration some, if not most, of the present tensions might have been avoided although perhaps not unless he had followed the talk with action.

By the same token race relations in the United States now might have been far more advanced if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had made a similar plea just once in his eight years in office.

Kennedy made two points on the legislation he will lay before Congress:

—He wants a law giving Negroes the right to be served in public facilities, like hotels and restaurants. This seems to mean a law forbidding proprietors of such facilities, if they are involved in interstate commerce at all, to decide on their own to refuse to serve Negroes. On May 21 the Supreme Court ruled no state or city law can force such a proprietor to discriminate. It didn't yet say whether they could do it on their own.

Questions Pick of Military Man

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—The Ouachita Area Development Council will devote its July meeting at Hot Springs to a discussion of the qualifications of Air Force Col. Carl Hinkle, who is reported to have been chosen executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Council.

The decision to look into the qualifications of Hinkle came Tuesday night after state Sen. Virgil Fletcher of Benton told the four-county group he questioned the wisdom of naming a military man to head the AIDC. Hinkle is commander of Little Rock Air Force Base.

The AIDC announced last week

gress to authorize the federal government to step in more fully in lawsuits to end segregation in public education. As of now a Negro denied admittance to a segregated school in almost all areas must file his own suit. Few Negroes can afford such expense.

Some Negro leaders feel, however, that unless Congress passes a law permitting the government to file a suit in any case where a Negro's civil rights are denied—not just in selected fields—all other measures are insufficient.

It seems pretty certain at this writing that Kennedy will not ask for such authority.

Arkansans Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas House members split Wednesday on a proposal to provide more funds for the Area Redevelopment Program. The measure was killed by a House vote of 209 to 204. Rep. E. C. Gathings voted against the bill. Reps. Oren Harris and James Trimble for it.

a buy!

ELECTRIC SERVICE is the big buy in your family's budget. Surprised?

Just think of all the ways you put electricity to work—every day.

True—your electric bill may be bigger than it used to be. But today, dollar for dollar, electricity does much more work than it did just a generation ago.

hues were placed on the porch, and arrangements of roses were used throughout the entertainment rooms. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. H. E. Thrash and presented to the honoree and the hostesses. Miss Thrash was attractively dressed in a summer frock of blue silk and wore a bridal corsage of fleur d' amour.

Mrs. R.M. Jones invited those present to sign the guest book placed on a table decorated with a pyramid arrangement of Spartan rosebuds.

The guests were directed to the refreshment table of Mrs. Hubert Thrash. White stock and candles with emerald fern centered the serving table overlaid with a floor length cloth of white organza trimmed with ruffles and eyelid embroidery. Iced punch, cookies, and nuts were served from crystal appointments, with Mrs. Jewell Moore, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Haynes alternating at the punch bowl.

Others who assisted in dispensing hospitality were Mrs. Miles Laha, Mrs. Herald Porterfield, Miss Barbara Caston, Miss Mary Caston, Miss Kathy Thrash, and Miss Sue King. Those in the house party wore corsages of shasta daisies or pink rosebuds.

Miss Thrash was presented with a gift of china in her chosen pattern by the hostesses. About seventy-five guests called during the appointed hours, including Mrs. Ernest McWha, aunt of the bride, from Hot Springs, Ark. and Miss Mary Frances Willis of Moline, Ill.

Razorback Frosh List Includes 47

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Broyles, head football coach at the University of Arkansas, announced a 47-player freshman roster Saturday, and a quick glance shows that Arkansas teams are not necessarily built now with Arkansas boys.

In fact, over half the boys listed on the roster are not from Arkansas. The list includes 14 from Texas, five from Kansas, three from Oklahoma and one each from Missouri and Tennessee.

Among the more familiar Arkansas freshmen are Leon Beland of Fort Smith St. Anne's, Elwood Brooks of Mineral Springs, Claude Lynch Jr. of Osceola, Ernest Moore of Conway, Tommy Sain of Jonesboro and Ronnie South of Murfreesboro.

Potentially, the 1965 or 1966 Razorback team could have a back field composed almost exclusively of Jones: twins Alvin and Calvin from Benton and Harry Jones, a quarterback from Enid, Okla., Calvin Jones played center at Benton, but his 6-1 frame and 185 pounds do not eliminate a possible position change.

The most promising of out-of-staters are Jim Bertonecino of Girard, Kan., George Botts of Miami, Okla., Mike Gammill of Beaumont, Tex., William Grindle of Overton, Tex., and Gene Wilshire of Bonham, Tex.

Although Broyles hesitates to go out on a limb by evaluating a freshman crop, he has indicated that the new recruits satisfies him completely.

It includes:

Jonesboro, La., visited in Hope last week with their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Card.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton (Chutch) Booth, Covina, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Booth of Wichita, Kansas arrived Sunday for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harsel Vines and family of California are here visiting with the Harsel Vines, Sr., Bob Martin and Charles Ferrand families.

DOROTHY DIX

DO WOMEN HATE EACH OTHER?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: The most evil part of a woman's nature is her hatred for other women. Each appears to enjoy seeing the other wither and suffer. No matter how badly a husband treats his wife, other women will say, "She deserved it." You're no exception. Judging from your columns you'd be rather than see a woman's point of view in anything.

No "abandoned" husband will ever give the real reason when his wife leaves him for keeps, taking the children along. I know because I'm one of those wives. My husband saw no harm in keeping a harem. He's run after every teen-age girl he saw. Me, the overworked wife, was supposed to take this as a matter of course.

We women are slaves of fear and pride. Each wants to prove to the world that some man needs her. This false pride forces her to pretend she has a paragon for a husband when, if the truth were known, she hates him as I did mine. Thus the unpleasant make a mockery of home, fidelity and common decency. Yet when a woman mistreats a man, you never say, "He deserved it." Why?

Dear W.: Women have always been sharper in their judgments of other women than men are of their fellow man because, by instinct, we are guardians of the "nest," and unsheath our claws to protect it from threats of another woman's designs on the head of the nest.

Contrary to your belief, men are not really "free" to "make a mockery of home, fidelity and common decency." They may do the mocking, but the bird comes home to roost, and regardless of whether the penalties are sufficient to satisfy the injured female, the offender suffers.

Our society is structured to punish those who break its fundamental laws. Look carefully into modern law and you will find that support payments, alimony, or settlements upon divorce or separation are all built into the law to protect the woman. Jail sentences are handed out to defaulters on alimony payments.

Of course we can't legislate love, affection, or tenderness. If we could there would be no more marital trouble in our society. Were I writing the laws, I would abolish the statutes in some of our states in which the woman is punished for adultery and the man let off scot-free. I applaud the code which permits the woman to initiate suit for divorce (all else failing) even though she may be chiefly at fault. That is surely a device for saving the woman's "pride."

Were you to study my columns over a long period of time, I doubt if you would find me prejudiced against women. If we could trade places, you would reverse your verdict.

Only a judge sitting on a given case, knowing every shred of evidence and hearing the arguments for both sides, could hope to arrive at a totally just and merciful judgment. Most often, I am asked to present a judgment based on the writer's side of the case and no other. However, it frequently happens that those who write, in pouring out their woes, unconsciously reveal the truth to me. Reading between the lines of your letter I would say you hate women.

Dear Helen: Thanks to your advice my life flows in better and happier channels. Having unshared the emotional problems which beset me I now should like to lessen the financial load for my husband as well as keep my mind alert.

Our home is in a small, Midwestern farming community. I raise flowers for pleasure and my husband gets a kick out of vegetable gardening. Our children are grown and married but we still live in the rambling house where they were born and reared.

A tenant farms our land and pays us a percentage based on the sale of crops. Sometimes they are good, sometimes poor. That's why we need a little nest egg of extra-money. Could you suggest some project which we might work on together? —Mrs. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Just a few miles outside Canaan, Conn., there is a little wooden stand beside the road where the best looking flowers in the whole area can be bought for a reasonable price, and the freshest vegetables including corn in season, are heaped on a plank counter. People come to this wayside stand from miles around because the farm couple who run it never sell a stringy bean or a faded glad. Can you pool your interests and do likewise? Meanwhile and for my wider discussion of this "pin money" problem, "Turn Your Spare Time Into Cash." Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Helen: My boy friend wants to give me a watch. My family thinks I'm crazy not to accept it but I feel we've known one another too short a time to take a gift like this from him. Who's right—me or my family? —Wondering time if you and the donor decide not to keep time together. Gifts before engagements should be carefully considered, in terms of the giver, in the long run, gifts tend to obligate receivers in one way or another. Be thankful you can inspire generosity, but postpone acceptance until you and your boy friend are ticking in earnest.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

With less than an hour in space, Cooper reported to his diary: "And I have the haze layer that Wally (Schirra, a fellow astronaut) was talking about. I can see the stars down in it. And it is - up and around the earth - to a number of degrees... can see the stars above it. I can see the stars down in it."

Cooper was constantly pulled out of his soliloquy by radio contact from the ground as he came within range of stations under his flight path. But then he returned to his diary: "Ha-ha. And now at this time... I'm observing John's (Glenn's) fireflies. Drifting away from me. I can observe them, appear to be departing from the spacecraft and drifting out to the rear. I then can see some of them a considerable distance to the rear..."

The changes on the earth below contrasted sharply with the steady predictable world of space. One minute Cooper was reporting: "Coming in over the coast of Africa. It's very clear here. No clouds. No haze. I'll try and snap (some pictures) of the Atlas Mountains... It's very dry, very clear over Africa. We're drifting window down, ideal attitude." Half an hour later - over the south Indian Ocean - Cooper reported: "I am now drifting on the night side. I have the moon in sight. I'm upside down. I'm observing lightning flashes from considerable-size thunderstorms that are below me. These create static in the radio every time the lightning flashes down there."

He also had troubles: "I'm eating a pot roast of beef. I've had considerable difficulty getting the water in it (dehydrated food in a plastic envelope) from this water device on the McDonnell water tank. I spilled water all over my hands, and all over the cockpit here trying to get some in it. I have succeeded in getting about half of it dampened and am proceeding to eat."

"I am washing my face with a damp rag now. Certainly feels good."

It was Helen Rowland who observed, "No man can understand why a woman should prefer a good reputation to a good time."

The Mercury Program Is Now Dead

EDITOR'S NOTE - The Mercury program is dead. Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. was the last man to fly the pioneer Mercury spacecraft. His 22-orbit record will likely stand for two years as the U.S. space endurance mark. Now the space agency has released the inboard tape recordings of the last Mercury mission. The following story is an abstract of this space diary - Cooper's own words as he saw it and told it while he rode alone in the heavens.

By JOHN BARBOUR
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) - As you'd expect of a quiet man thrust suddenly into the focus of the world's eye, Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. told of his space adventure best to himself and his diary.

That diary - tape recordings he made on his 22 rapid-fire days and nights in space - was released today by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It is a graphic account of a man alone in his space cabin on what has become the last flight of the pioneer Mercury spacecraft - and probably the last long-term flight of an American for almost two years.

There is no assurance that the transcript is complete. Parts of the transcription were garbled. Parts may have been deleted for security reasons. And once the troubles that endangered the Cooper flight showed up he apparently gave up his private tape recording.

Conspicuous by its absence is any description of the remarkable details Major Cooper said he saw of a truck, a train and other signs of life in the high Himalayas, including part of Red China.

But aside from that, Cooper - in the privacy of his space cabin - seems finally relaxed and alone with the heavens, despite an apparent initial overawakeness he was being tape recorded. Let the diary tell it:

"Well (clears throat) first night side and I have a bright blue band. A thick, diffused band of blue color - the sun is spread out very widely. It's settling now. And there it goes. A very bright blue band all the way around the earth."

With less than an hour in space, Cooper reported to his diary: "And I have the haze layer that Wally (Schirra, a fellow astronaut) was talking about. I can see the stars down in it. And it is - up and around the earth - to a number of degrees... can see the stars above it. I can see the stars down in it."

Cooper was constantly pulled out of his soliloquy by radio contact from the ground as he came within range of stations under his flight path. But then he returned to his diary: "Ha-ha. And now at this time... I'm observing John's (Glenn's) fireflies. Drifting away from me. I can observe them, appear to be departing from the spacecraft and drifting out to the rear. I then can see some of them a considerable distance to the rear..."

The changes on the earth below contrasted sharply with the steady predictable world of space. One minute Cooper was reporting: "Coming in over the coast of Africa. It's very clear here. No clouds. No haze. I'll try and snap (some pictures) of the Atlas Mountains... It's very dry, very clear over Africa. We're drifting window down, ideal attitude." Half an hour later - over the south Indian Ocean - Cooper reported: "I am now drifting on the night side. I have the moon in sight. I'm upside down. I'm observing lightning flashes from considerable-size thunderstorms that are below me. These create static in the radio every time the lightning flashes down there."

He also had troubles: "I'm eating a pot roast of beef. I've had considerable difficulty getting the water in it (dehydrated food in a plastic envelope) from this water device on the McDonnell water tank. I spilled water all over my hands, and all over the cockpit here trying to get some in it. I have succeeded in getting about half of it dampened and am proceeding to eat."

"I am washing my face with a damp rag now. Certainly feels good."

It was Helen Rowland who observed, "No man can understand why a woman should prefer a good reputation to a good time."

You Learn Things by the Mail

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The average bridegroom today is about 2 1/2 years older than his bride. In 1900 the age difference was four years.

Civic rebuilding programs are sometimes hard on animals as well as displaced people. A humane organization reports that the razing of a six-block area here left 400 cats homeless.

A psychological study found that drinkers are moodier, more selfish and materialistic than teetotalers - but, on the other hand, they are more tolerant and affectionate. Some three out of four drinkers also smoke, but only one in 10 abstainers uses tobacco in any form.

It takes a long-winded patriot to sing the entire Greek national anthem. Its 158 stanzas make it the longest anthem in the world.

Can you name any English word other than "facetious" which includes all the vowels in alphabetical order?

Our big cities are getting bigger all the time, but 24 per cent of U.S. families still dwell in towns of less than 2,500 population.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is the only American president who left an estate of more than a million dollars - $1,085,500 to be exact. Abraham Lincoln left $83,000. W. H. Harrison died in debt, and Thomas Jefferson died owing $40,000.

Spider web silk is tremendously strong. A rope of this insect fiber one inch thick could hold a weight of 74 tons - three times as much as an inch-thick steel.

You can get your wife a fur coat made from kangaroo pelts now for $200 on up, and if you tell her it's a beaver coat she probably won't be able to tell the difference.

Sit-in Charges Dismissed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Sit-in charges against two persons were dismissed in Municipal Court today because the drugstore at which they were arrested declined to prosecute.

Judge Bruton gavelled for silence. "Then, 'We are waiting,' he said gravely, 'for Dr. Howdershell to tell us what happened to his wife.'"

Smokey nodded. "Yes, sir," he answered. "I can only guess at what happened to her in 1947. She walked out, and disappeared from sight, from my knowledge. But today, sir - now - she is in this courtroom."

Everyone in the room said something, and looked about. Some stood. In seconds, the place was in an uproar, with voices rising shrilly.

The man beside me drew my attention to the dark woman - the stranger - and I felt sick. Not her! Not for Smokey!

"She calls herself the sister-in-law of the Weber men," Smokey was saying in the voice and manner of one who spoke of a stranger. I caught that tone, and I looked up at him curiously. "It doesn't matter. She was behind the blackmail."

"The Webers came here to work. Eve with them, by pure accident. She learned that I was here in town - she saw the home where I lived, and found out the reputation I have attained. To her it spelled the success she had once tried to deny me. And - and -" He took a deep breath.

"To punish me for what her twisted psyche considered an injury to her, she concocted a scheme of blackmail and extortion. By her own testimony here she wrote letters to me. A week ago, she approached my son. It was then that I guessed her presence in Elmbank."

Evelyn Weber sprung to her feet; her face was distorted with rage, her red lips were twisted, her mascaraed eyes bulged, her cheeks glistened.

She screamed at Smokey - calling him names, defending herself. She was vindictive, and threatening.

The bailiff ran to the woman, who turned on him, and screamed her opinion of him! Everyone who opposed her was a murderer. "My own son - and you -" Even as the bailiff endeavored to drag her out of the room, again she whirled on Smokey. David Ostensfeld finally assisted in her removal.

"The man beside me touched my elbow, and with his other hand, reached into his pocket, and brought out a leather case which he held, open, before me. I looked at it. The printed words, and the seal, blurred. I glanced up at him, frowning, and felt a little cross that he should be interrupting my attention to Smokey and his needs.

"Federal Bureau of Investigation," he said quietly. "I thought you might have been curious enough about me to want to know."

Later, yes, I would have asked who he was. "We've been on the Howdershell case for 14 years," he told me. "There was always the chance that the woman had been kidnapped. When this trial - this hearing - came up, we were fairly sure that the matter of the doctor's wife might be discussed."

"She's been right here in town for six months!" I said crossly. "And we didn't know it," he agreed. "But I am glad that things are going to be settled now. As for you - you've had two trials for the price of one, young lady. That's a great bargain!" He smiled at me. And as quickly, as quietly, as the flick of a scarf, the tall man was on his feet and going out through the hall door which flapped behind him.

Judge Bruton was again gaveling for silence. A man had come in through the side door behind the bailiff's chair, and now was talking urgently, bent over, to the policeman, who shook his head, and put his finger to his lips, in an effort to silence him; then he stood up, ready to escort the intruder from the room.

I was inclined to believe her, for the Judge was looking most annoyed. He sharply rapped for order. "What is it, Bailiff?" he asked gruffly.

"There's a message, sir -" he

Charges against Worth Long, 26, Negro, and William Hansen, 23, a white man, were dropped. They were arrested last November during a sit-in demonstration in the downtown Little Rock Walgreen drugstore.

Deputy Prosecutor Perry Whitmore told Judge Quinn Glover that the owner of the store and the defendants had talked over the matter and the owner decided not to pursue the matter further.

Giants Split, Willhite Wins for Dodgers

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I found my curve in Honolulu." Those are not the opening words to a new ball tune, to be crooned to the strum of a ukelele, while palms and wahoies sway.

It's the secret of the success of the newest flame-throwing pitcher imported by the Los Angeles Dodgers. 22-year-old left-hander Nick Willhite.

Willhite made his major league debut Sunday and shut out the Chicago Cubs 2-0 in the second game of a doubleheader. He gave up only five hits, struck out six and walked just one.

His win gave the Dodgers a split, as the Cubs won the opener 8-3. The National League-leading San Francisco Giants also split, losing to Houston 3-0 and winning 4-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals divided a pair with Pittsburgh, losing 4-3 in 12 innings and winning 11-7.

Philadelphia and Milwaukee split, the Phils taking the second game 7-4 in 11 innings and the Braves the opener 5-3.

The Cincinnati Reds scored the only sweep on the full 10-game slate, trouncing the New York Mets 11-5 and 10-3.

In the American League, all five doubleheaders were swept. The league-leading Yankees won 4-0 and 6-3 over Detroit. Chicago beat Kansas City 2-1 and 3-2. Boston beat Baltimore 8-1 and 12-5. Cleveland trimmed Washington 4-2 and 6-4 and Los Angeles bumped Minnesota 5-3 and 5-4 in 11 innings.

The Dodgers' young Willhite suddenly found his curve and his winning ways while working for Spokane in the Pacific Coast League.

Willhite's victory kept the Dodgers a game back of the Giants and a half game behind the Cards, after Bob Buhl beat them handily in the opener for his sixth victory.

The Giants, pitched into first place Saturday by Juan Marichal's no-hitter, held on when they Pierce and Jim Duffalo combined to stop a Houston ninth inning rally in the second game. Nottelbart, who suffered a strained right foot in the fifth inning, and Jim Umbricht combined to shut the Giants out in the opener. Catcher Jim Campillo's two-run double was the big hit for the Colts.

Al McBean pitched six scoreless innings of relief for the Phils and won his own game in the 12th with a homer to run his record to 7-1. The Cards bounced back with seven extra-base hits to take the second game, despite three-run homers by both Jim Pagliaroni and Ted Savage for the Pirates.

The Braves fought back from a 3-0 deficit in the opener against the Phils, with five singles for four runs in the seventh inning. In the second game the Phillies came from behind to tie the game in the ninth and win in the 11th.

Jim Maloney won his 10th victory in the opener and Jim O'Toole his 12th in the second game for the Reds. The pitchers, who won 25 games between them last year, now have a combined 22-5 record, to take up the slack left by Bob Purkey and Joey Jay. Purkey and Jay won 44 games last season, but have only four so far this year.

The Reds collected 24 hits, nine for extra bases, off six New York pitchers. Al Jackson and Roger Craig took the losses.

New Record Catch for the Walleye

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—With the fishing season just getting into full swing, six state fishing records already have been tied or broken.

Mrs. L. E. Garrison of Batesville hauled in a 19-pound, 12-ounce walleye while fishing on the White River below Loc No. 1 near Batesville Feb. 12. She used a minnow.

The smallmouth bass record, six pounds even, was set by Lawrence Landers of Batesville on March 10. He also used a minnow to take the bass from Greers Ferry Lake.

Bill Stackhouse of North Little Rock caught a record-tying four-pound, two-ounce white bass from Lake Ouachita on April 14. He shares the record with J. R. Chamberlain of Hot Springs and Elmer Hulsemann of Hot Springs.

Elmer Powers of Fayetteville upped the channel catfish record to 18 pounds on March 27 when he pulled one out of Lake Fayetteville, near Fayetteville. Randy Screws, 13, of Batesville pushed the rock bass record to one pound, 6 1/2 ounces on May 5. And Danny West of Batesville caught a 15 1/2-ounce warmouth bass on April 29 in a farm pond to establish a new record.

Records not yet broken include: Largemouth bass—12 pounds, 1 ounce; Spotted bass—3 pounds, 11 ounces; Crappie—3 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces; Rainbow trout—15 pounds, 3 ounces; Brown trout—17 pounds, 12 ounces; Blue catfish—11 pounds, 11 ounces; Chain pickerel—4 pounds, 12 ounces; Redear bream—2 pounds, 8 ounces; Blue gill bream—1 pound, 12 ounces.

DeGray Contract to Hughes Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Engineers announced Wednesday that the Hughes Engineering and Construction Co., of Magnolia Ark., would receive a $114,300 contract for construction of an operations building and related facilities at the site of the DeGray Dam near Arkadelphia.

A 3-0 deficit in the opener against the Phils, with five singles for four runs in the seventh inning. In the second game the Phillies came from behind to tie the game in the ninth and win in the 11th.

Jim Maloney won his 10th victory in the opener and Jim O'Toole his 12th in the second game for the Reds. The pitchers, who won 25 games between them last year, now have a combined 22-5 record, to take up the slack left by Bob Purkey and Joey Jay. Palmer Back to Winning Ways in Golf

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP)—Arnold Palmer turns his attention to the U.S. Open today, richer, wiser, out of a nagging slump, and once again able to laugh and quip: "After all these years, I've found my choking price. It's $25,000."

The 33-year-old Latrobe, Pa., strong boy—refreshed and relaxed after a month's layoff—shoved himself back on the throne of golf Sunday by winning the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic in a sudden death playoff with skinny Paul Harney.

Palmer put away his challenger by a stroke with a par 3 on the first extra hole after they had tied over the regulation 72 with 277 totals, picked up his winner's check for $25,000, and was able to say, without a grin:

"It's been a profitable week. I hit only one poor drive in the tournament. I hit only two shots that I was ashamed of. My game has improved a lot."

"That rest was just what I needed, I guess, although the way I approached to the 17th and put on the 18th, I could have used the practice."

Although he shot a 2-over-par 72 on the last round and let Harney catch him when he hit a too-strong approach and a too-weak chip on the 17th and missed a three-foot putt on the 18th, Palmer dominated the Thunderbird from the start to finish.

Never out of the lead after firing a first-round 67 on the 6,550-yard, par 70 Westchester Country Club course, he showed he can be a front-runner as well as a stretch stormer when he has to.

It was a far different Palmer who flew his own plane to Brookline, Mass., late Sunday night for Thursday's start of the National Open than the one who quit the tour, ailing and disgusted, little more than four weeks ago.

With the $25,000 first prize, which led to Palmer's "choking" quip after his missed three-footer forced the playoff, the king became the first golfer in official PGA records to earn more than $400,000 in a career.

A pro since 1955, Palmer has piled up earnings of $401,323, has won 39 official tournaments plus two British Open titles, has won 10 of 13 playoffs in which he has been involved, and now trails the year's leading money-winner Jack Nicklaus, by only little more than $2,000.

Nicklaus, bothered by a sore neck here, pocketed $1,075 after shooting a 284 total and has $58,680 in official earnings. Palmer jumped into second place with $56,545.

Harney, with a final round 69, settled for the $10,000 second prize and defending champion Gene Littler took third money of $5,700 after a final round 67 left him but one stroke short of the Palmer-Harney tie.

American Loop Race Is Hot as Weather

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

American League President Joe Cronin was as happy today as a cat who fell on a plate of sardines. The AL pennant race has become as hot as midsummer's day at the Equator. A year ago Cronin was gleeful over a "shoe-horn" battle. Today you'd have to use a crowbar to pry the jamming teams apart.

New York's league-leading Yankees took two from the Detroit Tigers for their first twin conquest of the year and discovered the Chicago White Sox were still in a virtual tie with them, only a hot breath away.

The Boston Red Sox, Cleveland Indians and Los Angeles Angels also swept doubleheaders, resulting in a complete shuffle of the next four places.

They're so tightly packed they must be suffering from claustrophobia. The Red Sox were third, 2 1/2 games back of the Yankees and White Sox, with streaking Cleveland and slumping Baltimore each 3 1/2 games back and Minnesota four games behind.

The Yanks bumped off the Tigers 4-0 and 6-3 before 44,357, largest crowd of the season at Yankee Stadium; the Red Sox copped their sixth in a row with 8-1 and 12-5 blitzes of the Orioles before 29,258 — biggest Boston turnout of the year; the White Sox edged the Kansas City A's 2-1 and 3-2 before 28,909 in Chicago; the Indians bumped off Washington 4-2 and 6-4 before a disappointing 15,347 attendance at Cleveland, and the Los Angeles Angels dismayed 36,160 Minneapolis-St. Paul customers by toppling the Twins 5-3 and 5-4.

In the National League, where sizzling pennant races are as common as newly tinted blondes in a beauty parlor, the clubs split evenly in four of five twin bills.

The only exception was at Cincinnati where the Reds cuffed the poor old New York Mets 11-5 and 10-3. The Giants bowed 3-0 to the Houston Colts and then squeezed out a 4-3 verdict at San Francisco. The Braves won 5-3 and then lost 7-4 to the Phils at Milwaukee. The Dodgers dropped an 8-3 opener to the Cubs and came back for a 2-0 triumph at Los Angeles. The Cards fell before the Pirates 4-3, and won 11-7 at St. Louis.

Telephone calls around the nation frequently brought the answer, "He is in conference." After one such meeting, Arthur L. Johnson, Detroit NAACP official, said: "The result of Evers' death will be intensification of the drive of Negroes to achieve what Medgar wanted."

2. Several Southerners spoke of the possibility of white counter-reaction.
Louis Eekl, editor of the Florence (Ala.) Times, said: "This is the danger: that people will stop thinking and start shooting. Generally speaking when you have a violent thing like this it firms the Negroes up. It is a highly explosive situation and liable to cause them to become more extreme in their actions and thinking, and could lead to disaster."

3. Newly established lines of communication between the races in the South are under severe strain today, if not actually broken down.
In many Southern cities, moderates of both races have gradually been restoring communications in an effort to find peaceable solutions to the Negro demands for equality in the schools and in other facilities.
These gains are threatened today.

4. Evers' death appears to be a severe setback for moderates of both races and an encouragement to extremists on both sides.
Both white and Negro observers said they believe the Black Muslims would "make immense capital out of this."
"It's made to order for them," a Negro leader said.
